Letter to the Editor

Re intoxication with Qaat, Catha edulis L

Dear Editor

I found Dr Bruce-Chwatt's article on Qaat, based around a case study of a 27 year old Qaat-chewing man in Brixton Custody, both informative and useful.¹ His approach to research – going down to Streatham to purchase some Qaat for himself – was most novel and added further interest to his article.

I would like to see this sort of article making up a larger percentage of the Journal's content. Dr Bruce-Chwatt has inspired me to start leafing through my medical records looking for similar inspiration!
